MERIT BADGE SERIES

READING

www.scouting.org

“As a longtime hiker, outdoorsman, and Scouter, I recommend the Fieldbook as an essential read for any outdoor enthusiast, regardless of age or ability. The time-tested skills and practical approaches are a credible, invaluable resource that will help make your outdoor adventures fun, safe, and memorable in America’s great outdoors.” —Gregory A. Miller, Ph.D., President, American Hiking Society

“This new Fieldbook provides excellent, detailed guidance on how to put Leave No Trace principles into action. Scouting plays a key role in developing the next generation of outdoor stewards.” —Dana Watts, Executive Director, Leave No Trace Center for Outdoor Ethics

“Slip this Fieldbook into your pack as a terrific guide to the passion of adventure, skills for the backcountry, and stewardship of the environment—three keys to enjoying America’s national parks and other public lands.” —Jonathan Jarvis, Director, National Park Service

Requirements

1. Do EACH of the following:
   a. Learn how to search your library’s card catalog or computerized catalog by author, title, and subject.
   b. With the assistance of your merit badge counselor or a librarian, select six books that include four different types (such as poetry, drama/plays, fiction, nonfiction, biographies, etc.). Ask your librarian or counselor about award-winning books that are recommended for readers your age and include at least one of those titles.
   c. Find the books in the library catalog. With your counselor’s or a librarian’s assistance, locate the books on the shelves.
   d. Read each book. Keep a log of your reading that includes the title of the book, the pages or chapters read, the date you completed them, and your thoughts about what you have read so far. Discuss your reading with your counselor. Using your log as a reference, explain why you chose each book and tell whether you enjoyed it and what it meant to you.

2. Read about the world around you from any two sources—books, magazines, newspapers, the Internet (with your parent’s permission), field manuals, etc. Topics may include sports, environmental problems, politics, social issues, current events, nature, religion, etc. Discuss what you have learned with your counselor.
3. Do ONE of the following:
   a. From a catalog of your choice, fill out an order form for merchandise as if you intended to place an order. Share the completed form with your counselor and discuss it.
   b. With your parent’s permission, locate at least five websites that are helpful for your Scouting or other activities. Write the Internet addresses of these sites in your log. Talk with your counselor or a librarian about safety rules for using the Internet.

4. With your counselor’s and your parent’s permission, choose ONE of the following activities and devote at least four hours of service to that activity. Discuss your participation with your counselor.
   a. Read to a sick, blind, or homebound person in a hospital or in an extended-care facility.
   b. Perform volunteer work at your school library or a public library.
   c. Read stories to younger children, in a group or individually.
Reading Resources

Scouting Literature
Boy Scout Handbook; Fieldbook; Stories for Around the Campfire; More Stories for Around the Campfire; The Gospel of the Redman; Learn to Fly-Fish in 24 Hours

Visit the Boy Scouts of America’s official retail website at http://www.scoutstuff.org for a complete listing of all merit badge pamphlets and other helpful Scouting materials and supplies.

Book Lists
Book lists or reading lists are put together every year by readers, librarians, and others who know books. Your school or public library will have lists to get you started. Many lists are published on the Web; the Internet address of some are given here. Also ask your librarian or teacher for a list of books that have won (or are competing for) your state’s awards for children’s and young adult books.

Bookshare has signed a memorandum of mutual support with the Boy Scouts of America that emphasizes an ongoing relationship to provide Scouts and their leaders access to an electronic library of key Scouting publications. Individuals with disabilities can have resources like the Boy Scout Handbook and dozens of merit badge pamphlets at their fingertips—on their PCs, smartphones, and e-readers via audiobooks, or can hear books being read as words are highlighted on a screen. These resources can even be accessed using a Braille “reader”—a display that can be hooked up to a computer to generate a Braille translation.
