

2017 Leadership Development Series

Register now for the remaining 2017 sessions!

The Leadership Development Series exists to meet the developmental needs of professional Scouters and volunteers, both novice and veteran, who have a desire to refine their current leadership skills. By targeting specific leadership areas, you and your team will now have the resources needed to successfully reach your full potential.

As a Leadership Development series participant, you choose your own development path from the course topics listed below:

Successful Delegation (SD)

This fast-paced workshop gives you real-world practice in delegation strategies that will reduce your stress level, empower your staff, and build morale. Put this delegation skill training to work for you to pinpoint the right task, the right time, and the right person to help you maximize productivity for you and your team.

Project Management Essentials for the Unofficial Project Manager – Franklin

Covey (PM) This workshop will help you develop applicable skills to consistently complete projects successfully. Learn how to complete high-quality projects on time, and on budget. You will learn to implement a disciplined process to execute projects, and to master informal authority to inspire the team.

Building Effective Teams (BET)

In this workshop, you will learn strategies and facilitation techniques for building great teams while creating successful group dynamics. Energize your team to go from good to great. You will develop skills that enhance team communication, trust, and collaboration. You'll also learn how to align team members around shared goals so they can effectively work to deliver breakthrough results.

Selecting Talent (ST)

This workshop focuses on two of the most critical decisions a council or organization makes: hiring and selecting talent. It's essential to start with talent. Selecting Talent Management is a comprehensive strategy that brings together different human resource initiatives—recruitment, retention, learning management, leadership development, and succession planning. When done properly, you'll select the right people for the right jobs, and you'll develop your people so that they can perform at their best.

Coaching the BSA Sales Model for Growth (SM)

In this staff leader-focused workshop, you will be empowered and equipped with BSA Sales knowledge to help manage your executives to apply, reinforce, and strengthen skills to deliver measurable and increased local and national results.

Managing Millennials (MM)

This workshop helps managers and leaders motivate and retain millennial team members. Learn key strategies to develop your millennial employees into the future leaders and superstars of our organization by building bench strength and loyalty in this key demographic of employees.

The 5 Choices for Extraordinary Productivity-FranklinCovey (5C)

This workshop focuses on efficient productivity. You'll discover a new paradigm by focusing on your most important outcomes and key roles. Learn effective strategies for weekly and daily planning, managing technology, keeping up your energy, and finding renewal for truly extraordinary achievements.
