FINGERPRINTING

"Enhancing our youths' competitive edge through merit badges"

BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA®

Requirements

1. Give a short history of fingerprinting. Tell the difference between civil and criminal identification.
2. Explain the difference between the automated fingerprint identification systems (AFIS) now used by law enforcement agencies and the biometric fingerprint systems used to control access to computers and places like buildings and airports.
3. Do the following:
 - a. Name the surfaces of the body where friction or papillary ridges are found.
 - b. Name the two basic principles supporting the science of fingerprints and give a brief explanation of each principle.
 - c. Explain what it takes to positively identify a person using fingerprints.
4. Take a clear set of prints using ONE of the following methods.
 - a. Make both rolled and plain impressions. Make these on an 8-by-8-inch fingerprint identification card, available from your local police department or your counselor.
 - b. Using clear adhesive tape, a pencil, and plain paper, record your own fingerprints or those of another person.
5. Show your merit badge counselor you can identify the three basic types of fingerprint patterns and their subcategories. Using your own hand, identify the types of patterns you see.

Acknowledgments

For assistance with updates to the Fingerprinting merit badge pamphlet and the requirements, the Boy Scouts of America thanks Ed German, a certified latent print examiner (CLPE) who works on fingerprint evidence cases for American military investigators from his office at the U.S. Army Criminal Investigation Laboratory. Special Agent German serves as a Fingerprinting merit badge counselor.

The BSA also thanks Lisa Vincent Stout, art and information specialist, Criminal Justice Information Services Division, Federal Bureau of Investigation; and Charles Jones, training supervisor, Identification and Investigative Services Section, FBI. Thanks also to WRB Fingerprint Counseling Service, Springfield, Virginia, and to the police departments of Edison and New Brunswick, New Jersey, for their past assistance.

The Boy Scouts of America is grateful to the men and women serving on the Merit Badge Maintenance Task Force for the improvements made in updating this pamphlet.
